RMR | Risk Management Resources

Threat Monitoring Services

About RMR

Since 2014 Risk Management Resources has supported clients with analysis of current threats to their objectives, organisation, and operations, enabling more effective responses to be developed. We provide detailed situational awareness so that you can protect your valuable assets and mitigate disruption to your operations, workforce, and reputation.

Access to information is rarely a challenge in today's open-source information rich environment; making sense of it is. We have proven experience in tasking and problem analysis to define and refine inputs to produce higher quality briefings. By working with you to make the requirements as specific as possible it enables us to deliver a quality final product.

Our monitoring services do not simply tell you what is happening but also answer -

- ✓ 'so what?'
- ✓ 'what next?'
- ✓ 'what if?'

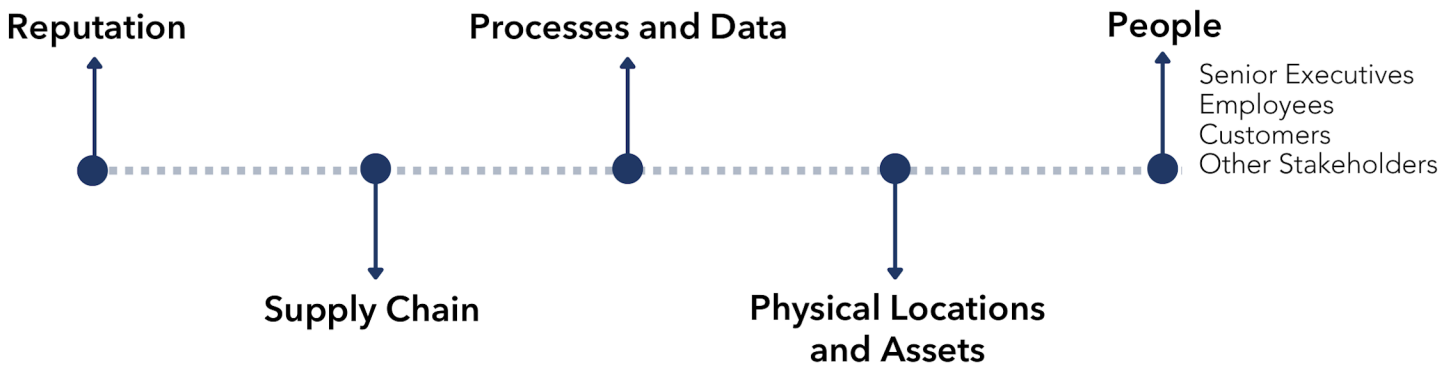
Our Threat Monitoring Services connect you to information, insight, and analytics in valuable new ways.

Our bespoke solutions enable clients to identify, track and evaluate threats to their:



Our Threat Monitoring Services are tailored to your requirements. We will work with you to clarify your needs so that we thoroughly understand the challenges you face and how we can best gather, analyse, and present the information for you.

This allows us to provide value for money through forward-looking content that enables you to make decisions with ease and confidence.

Once we have determined your critical information requirements these will be turned into collection indicators to scan appropriate sources for relevant developments.

We employ a structured analytical approach to evaluate the data against the identified critical information requirements. We then produce the analysis to a format and frequency determined by you.

We use four overlapping elements over a defined period to help you make your business resilient. In combination, they offer the level of support that facilitates critical decision making for your organisation, and maintain awareness of the developing security trends.

1 Requirement Mapping

Identification and analysis of your organisation's requirements along with sources and strategies that might be used in subsequent monitoring.

Development of a Collection Plan detailing the information required, analysis needed, search terms, resources and sources.

2 Threat Monitoring

Dedicated open-source intelligence collection against threat indicators as identified in the Requirement Mapping to give early warning of changing threat and risk outlooks.
The service may include -

- Regular Briefings to a time and frequency that meets your needs
- Threat Alerts

3 Ad Hoc Reporting

Production of Threat Briefings to your specific requirements. Intended to provide your organisation with greater detail on a specific threat, event or trend of interest to the company.

4 Project Management

Diligent project management to ensure that your organisation receives the best service

This includes regular meetings to review submitted work and identify any changes to the Collection Plan, if necessary.

All threat monitoring services are conducted within the UK's data protection and privacy laws ensuring all information is 'actionable' and can be used as evidence and NOT obtained from covert or privileged sources.

Why RMR?

RMR supports clients to manage their political, security, operational and integrity risks across a variety of complex or uncertain environments.

Since 2014, RMR has provided high quality business resilience and security services, delivered by experienced professionals. Our leadership team and local partnerships enable clients to overcome difficulties and to operate efficiently and effectively, with minimal impact. Informed by best practice and international standards, RMR uses its memberships of relevant bodies and groups to enhance its experience.

Associated memberships and related industry bodies include:

ASIS INTERNATIONAL UNITED KINGDOM

THE SECURITY INSTITUTE

SAFER SCOTLAND

Counter Terrorist Group

iosh

Founding members of

THE SECURITY INSTITUTE

Protest and Activism Special Interest Group (PASIG)

What Sets Us Apart

We provide invaluable strategic analysis support to private sector clients. Our success is based on developing a deep understanding of our customers' requirements and adeptly identifying and managing challenges to their organisational resilience.

Our clients benefit from:

Impartiality, Innovation, and Relevance

We have earned a reputation for independence, objectivity, creativity, and quality analysis.

Team Expertise

Our team consists of highly experienced open-source intelligence professionals and specialists focused on multiple domains of security interest.

Proven (OSINT) Methodologies

Our team members have supported clients in the national security, public, and private sectors with information, intelligence, and critical insight, along with analytical and training support solutions.

Project Management Approach

Our management approach stresses: clarity of roles, open lines of internal and external communication, our accountability to you, and the flexibility to respond to your evolving requirements during the project.

Selected staff biographies

Kenny Macleod

Kenny is a retired British Police Superintendent with 30 years' of service including as a Bronze and Silver Public Order Commander. His demonstrable security management experience includes effectively dealing with public protest while balancing the rights of an individual to protest with the right of others to go about their lawful activities unhindered. For RMR he has supported clients – including senior management, facilities managers, and security teams – by providing the knowledge and confidence to deal with protest incidents in a professional and lawful manner. He is a qualified trainer and has delivered specific training on dealing with incursion, protest, and activism.

Dan Smith

Dan has two decades' experience in project management, intelligence analysis and in working with private and public sector clients to understand and respond to security environments in various regions of the world. Before joining RMR, Dan worked for several security companies where he developed their intelligence and information resources including forecasting, scenario planning and war gaming solutions. He has helped develop European government capabilities in social media intelligence and has delivered OSINT and SOCMINT training to public and private sector clients in Europe and Africa.

Available Packages & Subscriptions

RMR's threat monitoring content is always bespoke and specific to your organisation.

You can ask for a one-off report for a specific requirement or subscribe to a regular reporting package. The service you choose will be tailored to your organisation and requirement.

Package	Essential	Plus	Premium
Bespoke Service and Package	✓	✓	✓
RMR Project Management	✓	✓	✓
Reqirement Mapping	✓	✓	✓
Monthly Briefings	✓	✓	✓
Fortnightly Briefings		✓	✓
Adhoc Reports			✓
Alerts			✓

Ready for what’s ahead?

Connect with us

+44 (0) 203 910 8309

info@rmrlimited.co.uk

www.rmrlimited.co.uk

61 Bridge Street Kington
Herefordshire HR5 3DJ

Learn more